Congressmen Looking Up Authorities for War—The Popular Will Tested—Presidential Message to Be a Notable Paper.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Cabinet meeting today lasted something over an hour, and was devoted exclusively to the Spanish situation in general and to the forthcoming report of the Maine court of inquiry. The tone of the discussion was very firm and determined that there must come an end to the present state of affairs in Cuba. Secretary Long authorized the statement that the understanding before the Cabinet was that the report would reach Washington next Thursday or Friday; that it was very voluminous and that the publication and transmission to Congress would not occur until next Monday or Tuesday, as the President would require that much time to give the document the mature consideration which its momentous character required.

Other Cabinet officers stated that the general plan included the sending of a Presidential message along with the report, the message to state that Spain had been called upon to make suitable response to the case presented by the court of inquiry.

While the Cabinet associates of the President maintained their usual reserve as to the exact character of their deliberations, yet it was conceded that the discussion proceeded on the theory that the coming report would show that the Maine explosion was not the result of an accident, but was due to an external cause. There is no doubt that substantial unanimity exists between the President and his Cabinet, both as to the Maine question and the general subject of Cuba.

The possibility of a recourse to intervention in case Spain declines to make suitable response to the representations which the government will make after receiving the Maine report has been fully discussed, although necessarily it has been an abstract discussion thus far, and no conclusion has been reached, nor is it possible until the vital question as to the court's findings is before the President and the Cabinet. At the same time, there is a very evident intention to consider all eventualities, including the recourse to intervention, the recognition of independence and other methods which appear to suitably meet the requirements of such a condition.

It is believed to be the intention of the President, however, to bring about a very material and satisfactory condition in Cuba by what shall seem to be the best and most practicable method of obtaining this end. It is the hope of the administration that Spain herself will so far realize the situation as to see the necessity for such radical action on her part with respect to Cuba as shall command the approval of this country, and thus at once put an end to all differences.

Pending a decision on the government's final policy no overtures or intimations have been conveyed to the Spanish government, and there is no official knowledge as to how Spain would regard a recognition of Cuban independence or intervention.

The Spanish Minister, Señor Polo y Bernabe, requested today that a statement be made that reports attributing to him expressions on the subject of independence were unwarranted and untrue. Señor Bernabe says he has not discussed this or any other of the pending questions.

Outside of the Cabinet meeting the day was exceptionally quiet. Secretary Long was able to clear his desk a 3:30 o'clock for the first time since the Maine disaster occurred, and he left the department before office hours closed to enjoy a walk.

During the afternoon the Bureau of Navigation posted the notice that the battleship Massachusetts had sailed from Key West for Hampton Roads, following the Texas, which left yesterday. About the same time Commodore Schley, who has been suggested as the probable commander of the "flying squadron," centered at Hampton Roads, called at the department and had a conference with Assistant Secretary Roosevelt.

The cruiser Brooklyn is at Newport News, and the monitor Puritan is under orders to proceed there, so that these vessels will be near the Hampton Roads rendezvous if it is determined to establish the squadron there. Orders for this move have not yet been given, nor has Commodore Schley received any information from officials that he would be placed in command of the squadron.

The Navy Department continues to keep informed as to the Spanish torpedo fleet, now stopping at the Canaries. Word of its departure has not yet reached the department. It can be stated positively that the report that President McKinley has protested against the coming of the flotilla is unwarranted. There has been no such protest.

At the Navy Department nothing is known of the reported ordering home of the Maine officers now at Havana. It is said that these officers, if given, would come from Admiral Sigsbee and not from the Navy Department. The seven Maine survivors who arrived here last Saturday came in response to orders from Admiral Sigsbee, and it was for this reason that their arrival was a surprise to the navy officials here. It is not expected that Capt. Sigsbee, Lieut.-Commander Wainwright and others who are assisting in the work of wreckage, will leave Havana until the salvage of the Maine is completed.

Serious attention is being given by the Navy Department officials to the question of acquisition of a suitable location for a coaling station somewhere in the West Indies. Steps have already been taken to establish such a station at the Dry Tortugas, but this, it is said, is the only deep-water harbor available for big war vessels between Hampton Roads and the Rio Grande. Besides, it is practically unprotected, and a fleet would have to be stationed there to protect the coal stored, which is unsatisfactory. The officials, therefore, have been casting about for a location which would serve the purposes of a coaling station, and which the United States might acquire either as a purchase or cession from one of the friendly governments.

"There are a number of fine harbors among the West Indies," said a naval officer today, "and in one of them we ought to have a coaling station."

Secretary Long is considering the matter, and it is probable that if the government can make the necessary arrangements a station will be secured. The importance of securing one, the officials point out, is very great, as in the event of hostilities our ships might be put to very great inconvenience and delay in filling their bunkers when their presence might be needed to protect critical points.

At the War Department bids were opened in the Bureau of Ordnance for supplying 470,000 pounds of brown prismatic powder for the seacoast-fortification guns. There were only two bidders, the California Powder Company and the Dupont Powder Company. The former concern offered to supply the powder at the rate of 32.15 cents a pound. Twenty-one days after receiving the contract they will begin delivering the powder at the rate of 25.00 pounds weekly. The Dupont bid 32.15 cents a pound for that to be delivered at the powder arsenal at Dover, N. J., and 34.15 cents a pound for that to be delivered at the Benicia Arsenal in California.

In a day or two the Ordnance Bureau will award the contract for supplying the department 2,900,000 smokeless-powder rifle cartridges of 30 caliber. The War Department has received information of the recent arrival at New York of the steamer Nordkynne with 5700 pounds of smokeless powder from abroad. This powder is for testing purposes at Sandy Hook.

IT CAME ASHORE.
Proceedings With Respect to the Court of Inquiry Report.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
NEW YORK, March 22.—The Mail and Express prints today a special from its correspondent at Key West, Fla., in which are the following statements:
"The report of the Maine court of inquiry, in possession of Lieut. William C. Muir and Guard Orderly McGee, was, at 8:45 o'clock this morning, brought ashore from the Detroit, where it spent the night for safe-keeping, and was carried direct to the hotel at Key West for final approval of Admiral Sigsbee, who, having created the court, has the right to review the evidence."
The session at the hotel lasted some time. The Judge Advocate, who stayed ashore last night for the first time in a month, went over the findings with Admiral Sigsbee. The latter signed them at 9:50 o'clock. It is now ready for the trip to Washington, via Miami and Jacksonville. It will start at 4 o'clock

IT IS INTENSE.

Country's Feelings are All Worked Up.

Speaker Reed Sends a Thrill Through Congressmen.

Senatorial Eloquence is Ready to Flow for Cuba.

Intervention Believed to Be the President's Intention—Senator Foraker Thinks Independence is a Natural Consequence.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, March 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The most violent section of what may be called the war party has today been impressed with the gravity of the condition of affairs between this country and Spain. It is almost impossible to imagine the intensity of the feeling that exists under an outward appearance of calm. Every man who spoke to the President today was impressed with the thought that he was weighed by his sense of responsibility.

Speaker Reed produced a remarkable effect upon members of the House by warning each one of them that it would be better for him, under any circumstances, to be out of the city next week; that probably the opportunity to cast the most important vote in his Congressional career would come next week. That had a quieting effect upon even the most light-hearted. It is the first time the Speaker has said anything that has been put in general circulation as coming from the Speaker since the Cuban matter was brought to an acute stage by the explosion of the Maine.

Although this feeling was more intense than ever today, there was no particular reason for it. The Cabinet discussed the whole affair today as it has on every day since the Maine blew up. The President communicated nothing new. The substance of the report was definitely known last Friday. All the work is now directed toward one end—preparation for war, if Spain, after Friday or Saturday, decides that she cannot tolerate intervention in Cuba by the United States. Secretaries Long and Alger were, as usual, given the lion's share of the time to say how the officers under them have done their work; and all their reports have been in answer to the question: "Will you be ready to act, if necessary, next week?"

Rumors as to what the report will show have been no scarcer than usual. The one most general in circulation has been that the real substance of it will be that the initial explosion was on board, but that there was also an external one, and that this last statement was made for the purpose of letting off Capt. Sigsbee as easily as possible. The inquiry into Admiral Sigsbee's health has been given this significance; that he opposed including in the report that there was an external explosion because the evidence to support it was too flimsy; that the inquiry into his health is made to find an excuse for relieving him of his command.

The impression, yes, information, among Senators of pronounced Cuban sympathies is that intervention will be the President's remedy; intervention to stop the war and its horrors. Tomorrow Senator Gallinger will make a speech, in which he will tell of the awful miseries he saw while in the island. The Senator's clerk, who was a soldier in the late war and helped rescue the prisoners from the Andersonville stockade, says the condition of the reconcentrados is worse than that of these prisoners.

These speeches by Republican Senators friendly to the administration lead to the belief that the President is preparing the minds of the people for his plan of calling a halt. Senator Proctor is very close to President McKinley. He has spoken. Gallinger is very friendly. Senator Thurston, who is to speak Thursday, is nearer the President than either of the other two. Now that they take up and echo all that has been said by Senators Foraker, Morgan and Chandler, who are not as close to the President, the significance of their performance is worth noting.

"The recognition of independence will be but an incident, when this country intervenes," said Senator Foraker. "It will make no difference whether we formally recognize the republic of Cuba or not, the only result can be independence for the Cubans. If Spain fights about the matter, why she will have to abandon the island when she is defeated by us. If she does not fight, the insurgents will be in possession, and consequently we will be forced to recognize the de facto government by holding communication with it. Independence will be one of the natural results of stopping the war. It does not seem possible that Spain could negotiate with the insurgents after this country compelled her to quit fighting."

A LA SHERMAN

Gomez to Undertake a Big Campaign.

He Will Attack Fortified Towns from the Rear

While Uncle Sam's Boats Shell Them in Front.

A March of More Than Three Hundred Miles—Movement of Twenty Thousand Men—Disposition of the Troops.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, March 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Word has been received in this city within the last twenty-four hours of the movement of troops westward in Cuba by Gen. Gomez. It is the largest campaign ever undertaken by the Cuban commander, who has made his plans to attack from the rear the fortified towns of the western provinces, while Uncle Sam's ships throw shot from the bays. The plans call for a march of more than three hundred miles from some of the far eastern stations, and the withdrawing of 20,000 men from Santiago de Cuba, Puerto Principe and Santa Clara.

As in Sherman's march to the sea and Doniphan's to Mexico, this army will live off the country. It will be separated from the base of supplies. The Spanish commanders know this, and are making preparations to check the march. Thirty days has been allowed by Gomez for the bringing up of the Army of the East under Calixto Garcia.

At present Garcia has 17,000 well-armed men, cavalry, artillery and infantry. The artillery will be left in Santiago; 14,000 of the Garcia troops, all veterans, seasoned and able to stand a month of the rainy season, will march from Santiago through Puerto Principe and Santa Clara to join Gomez in Matanzas. A portion of this command is now on the way. They were reported as having passed within three miles of Las Lunas a week ago. A thousand men, scattered in small bands, will remain in Santiago to harass the Spanish supply trains and prevent an attempt to take any Cuban strongholds. The artillery will be used for defending hospitals in the mountains and the Cuban base of supplies in the province. The infantry will be under command of Gen. Francisco Carrillo. The cavalry of this army will be under command of Gen. Jesus Ball.

Brig.-Gen. Maria Menocal, who commands the forces in Puerto Principe and is second in command to Gen. Garcia, who is in charge of the eastern provinces will march to Santa Clara with 5000 men. Gen. Menocal will join the army of Gomez in the province of Santa Clara, while Gomez, with his troops, will go into Matanzas. No real work is expected to be done by the troops until in the neighborhood of Santa Clara. From this point on the work will be cut out by the Spaniards.

It is the intention to permit passenger traffic on the roads running into Villa Clara and Cienfuegos. Any attempt to transport supplies or troops will be answered by the blowing up of the railroads. Nothing is to be feared from Spanish forces, until the army reaches Matanzas, which should be in less than thirty days, after Garcia's men start.

Thirty days has been allowed for the commands of Menocal and Ball to reach Matanzas. While this is going on, Gomez's troops will be moved to within a few miles of Jucaro Moron trocha, overrunning the province and keeping close to railroads, preventing transportation of either supplies or troops. Gen. Gomez's force now consists of about four thousand cavalry under Gen. Braulio Rana, who is known as the "Sheridan of Cuba."

With Gen. Pedro Betancourt in command of Matanzas, they will operate with Gen. Alejandro Rodriguez in Havana province. Rodriguez's men are now between the eastern trocha and that from Mariel to Majana. They are now keeping the Spaniards busy, and their campfires may be seen from Batabanos or Havana. Massed along the Mariel or western trocha, are the troops of Gen. Diaz.

The force which will be under Gen. Gomez, and which will be available, after a few days' marching together, will be 25,000 well-armed, well-drilled veteran troops. They will not be sufficient to attack Havana unless their independence has been recognized or they are to act as allies of the United States. But they will be able to prevent any reinforcements or supplies being sent into Havana, and will be in a position to march east after destroying everything in sight.

The command finally brought together in Havana province will be in three divisions. Gomez commanding the whole. Gen. Garcia will have charge of the troops from Santiago and Puerto Principe; Gen. J. M. Rodriguez

PETER PETERS OUT.

FIGHT WITH JEFFRIES SMOTHERED IN THE THIRD ROUND.

Jackson's "Spirited Promoter War" Was Illusive and No Sporting Men But on Him.

FIGHT THOUGHT TO BE SQUARE.

ANYWAY THE LOS ANGELES MEN GETS THE DRUM.

Unlabeled Handicap Won by Clark's Five-year-old. Jackson Drops Dead at New Orleans. Inside News.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Jeffries won the fight with square. The fight was a square one. The fight was a square one. The fight was a square one.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE SERVICE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—The fight between Jeffries and Jackson was a square one. The fight was a square one. The fight was a square one.

Jackson is popular in San Francisco. In fact, he has always been popular since, on May 22, 1891, he fought the memorable fight of sixty-one rounds with Jim Corbett. His cleverness, gameness and his sportsmanlike conduct on that and subsequent occasions gave him standing with the patrons of the sport. He was a popular figure in the championship question, and his recent years of illness and, some say, considerable dissipation, Jackson has lost none of his popularity, and when the big colored boxer announced his determination to again enter the arena and contend with younger men who have come forward in the last few years, his decision was hailed with delight by his admirers.

Some feared Jackson could not condition himself to withstand the hard knocks of actual battle, but his splendid work in practice dispelled all such fears, and Jackson again became a factor in the championship question. The public quickly came to realize that a great contest was to be decided, and tonight they poured into the arena, packing the stands to the top, blocking the streets in the vicinity of the building to such an extent that all traffic was suspended from 7:30 until 2:30 o'clock. The fight was a square one. The fight was a square one. The fight was a square one.

A new entrance to the building had been opened to the seats on the lower floor, and around this and the two doors leading to the galleries, the police formed a cordon, extending for a block in each direction on Valencia street, in order to keep back the non-ticket-holders and the mob of curious onlookers and hangers-on, many of whom were seeking through every conceivable means to gain admittance. All seats were sold by 5 o'clock, and those who failed to provide themselves with the pastebored earlier, were confronted with closed doors when they sought to purchase them. It is estimated that 25,000 people were outside the building during the progress of the fight.

Inside the big pavilion, the largest at present available in the city, men were packed like sardines. Every seat was occupied, while the aisles were filled, and a human sea of heads skirted the walls of the entire building. Scarcely less than 3000 men were within the walls when time was called.

[IN THE RING.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—At 5 p.m. Jeffries came into the ring, attended by Billy Delaney, DeWitt Carr and "Spider" Kelly. Jeffries came the northwest corner of the ring. He was lastly checked. The house went wild when, at 8 o'clock, Jackson stepped into the ring, followed by Patsy Curran, Henry White and Young Mike Kelly.

At 8:05 o'clock Referee McDonald called the men to the center of the ring and instructed them, and at 8:10 p.m. the going sounded.

Second round—Jeffries missed a punch going for the body, and was pulled in the face with a left. Jeffries put a good left on the head and clinched. Peter came in close, and put in a short right-arm blow over the heart, and Jeffries clinched. Jackson landed a right jab on Jeffries' head, and Jeffries landed a left jab on Jackson's head. Jackson landed a right jab on Jeffries' head, and Jeffries landed a left jab on Jackson's head.

Third round—Jeffries missed a punch going for the body, and was pulled in the face with a left. Jeffries put a good left on the head and clinched. Peter came in close, and put in a short right-arm blow over the heart, and Jeffries clinched. Jackson landed a right jab on Jeffries' head, and Jeffries landed a left jab on Jackson's head. Jackson landed a right jab on Jeffries' head, and Jeffries landed a left jab on Jackson's head.

SOME GREAT CANAL PROJECTS IN ARIZONA.

Probable Consolidation of the Larger Ditch Companies on the Salt River Valley.

A POLITICAL COMBINATION.

TERRITORIAL ALLIANCE OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTIES.

Washington in Arizona—The Governor to Review Soon—Deep Workings on the Congress.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 22.—(Exclusive Correspondence.)

Steps are now being taken toward a consolidation of the great canal systems of the Salt River Valley, and to them add the canal project at Tucson. If the plan is consummated, at its head will be Bowen & Perry, the Detroit millionaire.

They are now on the head canal on the southern side of the Salt River Valley. It is called the Mesa Consolidated and now has a capacity of about fifty thousand acres. One of the largest ditches known is still at work upon it in a long, deep cut, where it comes to the surface of the mesa, twenty miles east of Phoenix, and three modern engineers took advantage of the opportunity to make a study of the ditch.

The consolidated has a large branch, through which is to be supplied the old Tempe Canal, and probably, the Utah Canal's extension as well. At the point of supply has been developed a magnificent water power, a maximum flow of 15,000 cubic feet per second, which is available with a drop of thirty-five feet. There has already been established a power house, with a single turbine, and the plan is to build a second, and a third, and a fourth, and a fifth, and a sixth, and a seventh, and an eighth, and a ninth, and a tenth, and an eleventh, and a twelfth, and a thirteenth, and a fourteenth, and a fifteenth, and a sixteenth, and a seventeenth, and an eighteenth, and a nineteenth, and a twentieth, and a ASSESSMENT LIFE - INSURANCE
LEGISLATION. There is a bill in the New York Legislature, adding a new section to the insurance law of 1892, relating to assessments of life and accident insurance. It provides that the beneficiary under a policy in force five years, shall have a vested interest in the reserve fund, equal to the total amount paid to the association by the deceased policyholder, together with such additions thereto as the insurance superintendent may determine justly upon a computation based upon the term of insurance, and the sum contributed by the deceased policyholder, after deducting actual cost of insurance in relation to the aggregate total of such reserve of emergency fund, and the total of the insurance carried by such association.

COMMERCIAL.

THE COTTON CROP. Latest advices from the cotton-producing sections indicate that the cotton crop of 1892-93 will exceed 11,000,000 bales, and will reach 11,000,000 bales in 1893. This is by far the largest crop ever produced in the United States, which furnishes the bulk of the cotton of the world. An exchange says: "The crop of the United States has been increasing with wonderful rapidity during the past quarter of a century, having been in 1872 only 2,385,000 bales, in 1876, 6,755,000 in 1886, 9,901,000 in 1890, and over 11,000,000 in 1892-93. It will be seen that the production of nearly one hundred million pounds of cotton in a year, while the increase in population of the world has been but about 25 per cent., and it is, doubtless, the fact that the method of making up the increased twelve times as rapidly as population, that the great fall in price of cotton is to be attributed."

PROCESS BUTTER. Reference was made a short time ago in The Times to the so-called "process butter" which has made a considerable amount of money for dealers who handle the "sure-nough" product. A brief reference was made to the method of making this butter. The following more detailed description of the method of manufacture is given by an expert butter man to the Grocery World:

"The first step in the making of the average grade of process butter is the securing of the spoiled natural butter, which is then melted. This is purchased in various places, much of it coming from farmers who can't sell it for consumption. This raw material is placed in a vat and heated to 100 degrees of 98 deg. The Pure Food Department experts claim that somewhere in the process of manufacture this rancid butter is heated to 100 degrees, under the temperature of 98 deg. the butter melts. The scum is then removed, and the butter is drawn off. This fat has separated itself from the casein and the salt, and the other ingredients, and is simply raw butter fat. This is then run through a straining apparatus. Under pressure the fat is then sprayed into ice-cold water.

"In the mean time skim milk has been allowed to become like honey-clabber, and when it reached this stage it is put in a churn with the butter fat and thoroughly churned or mixed. In the course of this process the former ingredient absorbs nearly all the fat in a churn with the butter weight. When it is taken out it greatly resembles pure butter, and is then salted and worked up. The manufacturer of process butter does not use chemicals as used, but those who are opposed to it assert to the contrary.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

MONOPOLY IN KERN COUNTY. Under the "Anti-Monopoly Policy," the Kern County Echo reads the Kern Valley Land Company a lesson on its short-sighted policy in trying to monopolize every small branch of business in that section, and thus retard the true growth of the county and surrounding towns. Referring to the company, the Echo says: "It manufactures the local supply of flour and feed; it monopolizes the warehouse business on the Southern Pacific, and has secured two important shipping points on the Valley road; it has its local bank and building and loan association; it runs a blacksmith and machine shop; it carries a newspaper, and water works; it does not own the light plant that it threatens to take over, but is compelling them to buy its power under a threat of putting in a rival plant; it boasts that it will soon control the freight trade to the coast, and is threatening to buy its meat by the carcass, and now it is announced that it is to occupy the ice manufacturing field."

"The annual profits on all these businesses are as bagatelle to this great concern. Neither Mr. Tevis nor Mr. Haggin could tell the shareholders at the end of the year by looking into his purse if all these small fields of industry were left to men of capital. The Echo suggests that Mr. Haggin and Tevis would make as much money, and do more to build up a strong community by confining their attention to the big concerns in which they own, the Land Company, the Water and Canal Company, and the Power Company."

Question Over Disposition of Possible Contraband Boat.

SAN PEDRO, March 22.—[Regular Correspondence.] The question as to what shall be done with the nameless boat brought to this port by Herbert L. Young, now in the hands of the customs officers, is likely to be a puzzle to the government officials. Young is accused of having brought a contraband Chinese into the country, having ashore near Anaheim Landing. Evidently Young's apprehension, the boat, unoccupied, was seen in the inner harbor here. Before the customs officers could take possession, it was tied to the Santa Barbara, a small schooner owned by L. H. Ambery.

The story told by Young was to the effect that he came to San Pedro to have a settlement with Mr. Ambery, to whom he had a bill. Mr. Ambery said that the Young had given him a bill of sale of the boat in settlement for the bill. The boat was commonly taken into custody by the customs officers. The bill of sale, however, was not made out, and the boat was not taken into custody. The bill of sale, however, was not made out, and the boat was not taken into custody. The bill of sale, however, was not made out, and the boat was not taken into custody.

WOULDN'T PAY BOARD BILL.

Ludor Gilbert was tried before Justice Downing in Wilmington today on a charge of battery. Francois Gimle was the complainant and the aggrieved person. It appeared that the defendant had lived at Gimle's house for three months or so, and had refused to pay for his board. Gimle asked for a settlement and got before the court on the matter. When the case came on for trial, the defendant refused to pay for his board. The case was dismissed.

SUBURBAN FIRE.

Shortly after 11 o'clock last night a fire in South Pasadena was plainly visible in this city. It proved to be the barn owned by the residence of Mrs. Sarah E. Liebert, on 120 North Los Angeles street. The fire is believed to have been caused by a lamp. Two hours after the first fire a blaze in the same direction proved to be the dwelling itself, which was a beautiful home. There is no fire department in South Pasadena and the fire was so far from the center of the city that it could not be reached. The loss is estimated at about $10,000.

LIBERT-THOMPSON.

A very pretty home wedding, attended only by relatives and intimate friends was that of Edwin R. Liebert and Miss F. Pearl Thompson at the residence of Mrs. Sarah E. Liebert, on 120 North Los Angeles street, this evening. The Rev. N. H. G. Fife officiated, and after a wedding supper Mrs. Liebert left for the North on an extended tour.

AMERICAN CLUB.

At the meeting of the American Club tomorrow evening, the members will be called upon to vote on the request of La Fiere to participate in the parade in Los Angeles on Florida day. The committee of the club to whom was referred the matter of providing an entertainment have secured a mandolin club and several vocalists. There will also be refreshments. The meeting will be held in Grand Army Hall Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, and there is not much doubt but that the boys will vote to accept the invitation and appear in Los Angeles during La Fiesta.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe road, arrived in this city tonight in his private car, and will remain here a couple of weeks. Mr. Ripley is a great lover of golf, and will enjoy the privileges of the fine Country Club golf links.

REDLANDS.

Frank Moya arrested—O. P. Conway and Miss Bishop married.

REDLANDS.

REDLANDS, March 22.—[Regular Correspondence.] Frank Moya was arrested on Sunday by Constable R. H. Bishop on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon upon the person of Martin Mendoza.

CONWAY-BISHOP.

O. P. Conway of San Francisco and Miss Lottie Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Bishop of this city, were united in marriage at 7:15 o'clock yesterday morning at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends. The altar was prettily decorated in honor of the occasion, and the Rev. William M. Sterling officiated. The ushers were Ralph Roberts, Percy Roberts, Walter Roberts and W. L. Dike. Mrs. C. M. Brown presided at the organ, and as the bride party entered the church Miss O'Kelly sang "O Promise Me."

REDLANDS BREVITIES.

L. E. Huntington is building a pretty residence on Chestnut avenue, east of California street, and Julius Seeman is building on La Verne street, south of Fern avenue.

REDLANDS BREVITIES.

The Women's Parliament of Southern California will meet in Redlands April 26 and 27. This will be the first meeting of the organization since the election of Maj. Belle Reynolds of Santa Barbara as president.

REDLANDS BREVITIES.

A Romero, a well-known Mexican, while attending a "round-up" at Cliff's ranch in San Timoteo Canon, on Sunday, was thrown from his horse and painfully, if not seriously, injured.

REDLANDS BREVITIES.

The weather today was cold, and a terrific rain was in force from sunrise until early evening, when the wind somewhat abated. There is but one thoroughly successful deep-well pump. It is not cheap; it will not break; it does not take a horse power to operate; it has no moving parts; it is simple in construction and operation; and no other on the market. The Machinery and Electrical Company are the sole agents, No. 251 North Main, Los Angeles.

RAILROAD BLIGHT UPON DEVELOPMENT AND PROGRESS.

No More Work on Moreno Dam While the Pool Lacks—Bovalpans Howers Wants More Office—Usual Steamship Line Project—Sports at Coronado.

SAN DIEGO, March 22.—[Regular Correspondence.] A decided sensation was caused last night by the revelation that the Council of a letter from the Southern California Mountain Water Company, asking to be released from the contract for building the new city water system, on Sixth street the night before last. They got away with a downed knife and a revolver, and made good their escape.

"SAN DIEGO (Cal.) March 22, 1898.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of San Diego, San Diego County, Cal.—Gentlemen: Owing to the conflicting decisions of the State and United States courts, whereby it is at present uncertain whether there is such a thing as a water right that can be bought or purchased by a customer, added to the fact that the continued litigation regarding the city bonds, the present unsatisfactory conditions of business in this section, on account of the policy and for other reasons, Messrs. Spreckels Bros. have decided to withdraw from the project of building a water system, and to devote their resources to other enterprises.

THE RAILROAD BLIGHT.

"What connection has the railroad blight with your water development?" asked a Times representative of E. S. Babcock this morning.

A Young Woman's Peril and Her Pilot.

HOW SHE DRIFTED INTO DANGER AND HOW SHE WAS SAVED.

It all happened at one of those pleasant sea resorts, where life is comedy from day to day and tragedy has no place. She just stepped on the raft which she thought was moored, and in pure idleness of mood fell to rocking it from side to side, as she watched the white sails trailing in the air far out at sea. But the raft was not moored. Her rocking had slowly dislodged it from the sand, on which it was grounded, and when she turned around, she was afloat and the shore a redoubt behind her. She cried for help, and was heard by a lonely fisherman who sat at some distance on the beach mending his nets. How slowly he got up. How slowly he stepped across the sandy shore. And she was drifting, drifting, drifting. "Save me!" she cried, "save me!" as the old man came to the water's edge. The grizzled mariner raised his hand to the side of his mouth and cried hoarsely, "Walk ashore!"

That's all there was of it. She was still afloat, and the old man needed was the timely word of instruction and advice. But suppose it had not come? Suppose she had not been saved?

Outside, the equinoctial storm was blowing, with the air chill and clouds obscuring the sky. Inside, electric lights made the bath as light as day, and the warm water invited a casual plunge. The polo players, attired in their riding habits, will meet on the polo field at the Hotel del Coronado.

The grizzled mariner raised his hand to the side of his mouth and cried hoarsely, "Walk ashore!"

That's all there was of it. She was still afloat, and the old man needed was the timely word of instruction and advice. But suppose it had not come? Suppose she had not been saved?

Outside, the equinoctial storm was blowing, with the air chill and clouds obscuring the sky. Inside, electric lights made the bath as light as day, and the warm water invited a casual plunge. The polo players, attired in their riding habits, will meet on the polo field at the Hotel del Coronado.

WALK ASHORE.

A Young Woman's Peril and Her Pilot.

HOW SHE DRIFTED INTO DANGER AND HOW SHE WAS SAVED.

It all happened at one of those pleasant sea resorts, where life is comedy from day to day and tragedy has no place. She just stepped on the raft which she thought was moored, and in pure idleness of mood fell to rocking it from side to side, as she watched the white sails trailing in the air far out at sea. But the raft was not moored. Her rocking had slowly dislodged it from the sand, on which it was grounded, and when she turned around, she was afloat and the shore a redoubt behind her. She cried for help, and was heard by a lonely fisherman who sat at some distance on the beach mending his nets. How slowly he got up. How slowly he stepped across the sandy shore. And she was drifting, drifting, drifting. "Save me!" she cried, "save me!" as the old man came to the water's edge. The grizzled mariner raised his hand to the side of his mouth and cried hoarsely, "Walk ashore!"

That's all there was of it. She was still afloat, and the old man needed was the timely word of instruction and advice. But suppose it had not come? Suppose she had not been saved?
